CHAPLAIN CORPS

169th Fighter
Wing
McEntire Joint
National Guard
Base

Chaplains are the spiritual leaders of the National Guard. Their mission is to provide spiritual care and the opportunity for service members and their families to exercise their constitutional right to the free exercise of religion. This is accomplished through religious observances, providing pastoral care, confidential counseling, and advising leadership on spiritual, ethical, moral, morale, core values, and religious accommodation issues.

Chaplains lead the Strong Bonds program in partnership with the Airman and Family Readiness Program Coordinator and assist commanders in building individual resiliency by strengthening the military family. The core mission of Strong Bonds is to increase individual service member and family readiness through relationship education and skills training. Retreats are offered for singles, married couples, and families.

Chaplains help service members and their families during all phases of the deployment cycle. They play a key role in the Yellow Ribbon Reintegration Program as they conduct a variety of workshops for married and single service members, offer individual and family counseling, and provide worship services during the weekend events. Chaplains provide suicide prevention training, crisis intervention after a traumatic event, and spiritual resiliency retreats for service members before and after a deployment.

Chaplains lead a Religious Support Team (RST) which consists of the Chaplain and a trained Chaplain Assistant. The Chaplain Assistant is an enlisted service member who serves as an extra set of eyes and ears for the RST as they support the ministry of Chaplains.

The SCANG Chaplain Corps primarily provides support to service members assigned to the 169th Fighter Wing. They serve as Traditional Guard members during Unit Training Assembly weekends and periods of Annual Training. However, they can be reached anytime outside of drill weekends. VET JOBS

SERVICES: VetJobs has thousands of employers who have used the site to identify candidates from the transitioning military and veteran market. VetJobs averages more job postings than any other military or intelligence related job board! The Employment Assistance section has guidance on how to organize a job search, write a resume, interview and identify your next employer. VetJobs publishes a monthly newsletter for veterans called the Veteran Eagle. The newsletter has vital information about employment and the market, as well as topics of interest to people who have been associated with the military. Many military personnel who transition to the civilian sector often feel they are under-employed for up to four years after separation. This is frequently because a) the hiring companies do not fully appreciate the technical skills and leadership ability of a person who has served in the military or b) the military person was not fully knowledgeable of how to approach the civilian job market. Over the last nine years, VetJobs has changed this situation. VetJobs is for ALL uniformed personnel, enlisted and officer, who has served in one of the military branches of the United States. VetJobs also assists the family members of anyone who has served in the military. The VetJobs military definition includes: Air Force, Army, Coast Guard, Department of Defense Civilians, Marine Corps, Merchant Marine, Navy, National Guard, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, Public Health Service and the Reserves.
